

Kalighat - West Bengal

V1 — Authentic Style

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Kalighat painting from West Bengal.

Treat this as a true urban Kalighat single-sheet painting system, not as generic Indian folk painting, not as Bengal scroll painting, not as realism-first illustration, and not as decorative traditional art.

Build the image through real Kalighat logic:
single-sheet image identity,
broad sweeping brush-led contour,
bold simplified figure construction,
plain or nearly plain background space,
direct high-readability color,
urban bazaar picture logic,
and devotional-plus-secular subject flexibility.

The image must feel like a complete painted sheet from the beginning.
It must not feel like a normal illustration that was later stylized with bold outlines and bright colors.

The style must control the whole frame:
figure dominance,
brush economy,
contour force,
silhouette clarity,
negative space,
page balance,
direct subject readability,
and visual punch.

The composition should feel condensed and immediate.
One figure, two figures, or one compact action group can dominate the sheet, but the page must stay image-first, not scene-first.

Background must remain blank, nearly blank, or extremely minimal.
Do not build elaborate environment, atmospheric setting, decorative scenery, perspective depth, or narrative landscape.

Do not make it:

generic folk painting,
generic Bengali myth painting,
realistic deity art,
scroll-like narrative sequence, decorative wall-art with filled background, or polished illustration with Kalighat accents added later.

The final image must feel like authentic Kalighat brush intelligence itself generated the whole sheet.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SUBJECT / SCENE / IMAGE] in the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Kalighat painting from West Bengal.

Treat the style as an urban single-sheet brush-painting system built from:
broad sweeping contour,
bold simplified figure logic,
plain or minimal background space,
direct color impact,
sheet-image condensation,
and Kalighat bazaar readability.

Core style system to preserve:
single-sheet image truth,
brush-led simplification,
bold contour dominance,
plain-background discipline,
urban-devotional-and-secular flexibility,
and whole-frame same-language control.

Translate the image like this:

[MAIN FIGURE / MAIN ACTION] must dominate the sheet immediately [CONTOUR] must be broad, sweeping, economical, and decisive [FIGURE FORM] must be simplified, stylized, and instantly readable [BACKGROUND] must remain blank or nearly blank, not scenic [COLOR] must be direct, bold, and high-readability, not atmospheric [SUBJECT] may be devotional, secular, satirical, or topical, but must feel Kalighat-born [ENTIRE PAGE] must feel like a self-contained bazaar picture, not a scroll fragment or illustration scene

Keep:
sheet-image identity,
brush economy,
figure-first force,

plain-space discipline,
urban Kalighat condensation,
and same-language image control.

Avoid:

generic Indian folk-art look, Bengal pata scroll logic,
filled scenic setting,
realistic modeling,
decorative over-detailing,
or generic painting with a few bold outlines added later.

The final result must feel like true Kalighat logic itself generated the whole image.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Kalighat painting from West Bengal.

Preserve the source image's subject count, core action, and main readability, but rebuild the entire image through real Kalighat single-sheet brush intelligence.

Replace generic illustration or realism with:

single-sheet picture logic,
broad sweeping brush contour,
bold simplified figure form,
plain or nearly plain background,
direct color impact,
and urban bazaar image economy.

Do not merely add thick outlines.

Do not merely remove the background.

Do not merely add bright colors.

Do not keep realistic figure logic while only the surface becomes Kalighat-like.

Rebuild:

figures as true Kalighat figures,
space as sparse sheet-space, brushwork as the main structural carrier, color as direct pictorial emphasis,
and the whole frame as one Kalighat-authored image.

The final result must feel like the source image has been completely re-authored by authentic Kalighat grammar, not decorated with it.

V2 — Artisan Translation

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in V2 = authentic handcrafted dimensional translation of Kalighat painting from West Bengal.

Preserve the same deep source grammar of the style:

single-sheet image identity,
broad sweeping brush-led contour,
bold simplified figure construction,
plain or nearly plain background space,
direct color impact,
urban bazaar readability,
and devotional-plus-secular subject flexibility.

Now translate that same grammar into stronger brush-image embodiment.

This must not become generic painted realism.

This must not become polished illustration.

This must not become premium heritage art.

This must not become decorative wall-painting polish.

Dimensionality must come from the style itself:

through stronger brush-body presence, clearer paper-sheet objecthood, stronger figure weight inside the same simplified grammar, richer ink-and-watercolour flow, stronger negative-space tension,
clearer silhouette authority,
and stronger image punch.

This is not realism-first depth.

This is the same Kalighat grammar gaining stronger painted-sheet embodiment.

Allow:

stronger brush confidence,
slightly fuller painted presence, stronger paper-and-pigment feel,
stronger figure-page relation,
and stronger handcrafted completeness.

But keep:

plain-background discipline,
sheet-image force,
brush economy,

figure simplification,
and Kalighat urban image clarity.

Do not let realism replace brush logic.
Do not let finish quality replace image economy.
Do not let richer paint-body turn into scenic or atmospheric painting.

The whole image must feel like Kalighat has gained stronger brush-image embodiment without losing its native sheet-picture system.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SUBJECT / SCENE / IMAGE] in V2 = authentic handcrafted dimensional translation of Kalighat painting from West Bengal.

Preserve the unchanged deep source core:
single-sheet image truth,
broad sweeping contour,
simplified figure grammar,
plain-background rule,
direct color force,
urban Kalighat readability, and bazaar-picture authorship memory.

Translate the image into stronger brush-image embodiment by increasing:
brush-body presence,
paper-sheet objecthood,
figure weight,
silhouette force,
negative-space tension,
painted completeness,
and same-language image control.

Build the image like this:
[MAIN FIGURE / MAIN ACTION] becomes more physically present but stays simplified and sheet-dominant [CONTOUR] remains sweeping, economical, and decisive [FIGURE FORM] gains stronger painted-body presence without realism [BACKGROUND] remains plain or nearly plain, never scenic [COLOR] gains stronger painted intensity, not tonal atmosphere [PAGE] feels more fully authored as a handcrafted picture-sheet, not as illustration

Keep:
sheet-image truth,
brush economy,
plain-space discipline,

urban Kalighat condensation,
and whole-frame same-language control.

Avoid:

generic painting realism,
gallery polish,
premium folk illustration,
filled environment,
scroll-sequence behavior,
or any second visual language stronger than Kalighat grammar.

The final image must feel like authentic Kalighat logic translated into stronger brush-image embodiment.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into V2 = authentic handcrafted dimensional translation of Kalighat painting from West Bengal.

Keep the source image's subject count, core action, and main readability, but rebuild the image through Kalighat brush grammar translated into stronger painted-sheet embodiment.

The image must no longer behave like generic illustration or realism.

Replace that with:

single-sheet image force,
broad sweeping contour,
simplified figure logic,
plain background discipline,
direct color impact,
and strong paper-picture presence.

Add:

stronger brush-body,
clearer page authority, stronger figure-to-sheet relation, clearer negative-space control, and stronger handcrafted visual completeness.

But do not let dimensionality come from realism, scenic buildup, or decorative over-rendering.

Do not keep ordinary visual logic while only the surface becomes Kalighat-like.

Rebuild all visible elements so they feel born from Kalighat grammar.

The result must feel like the source image has entered the branch's stronger brush-image world, not that Kalighat styling has been placed onto an ordinary picture.

V3 — 3D / Realistic / Cinematic Translation

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in V3 = full Kalighat world embodiment of the same source grammar from West Bengal.

Keep the authentic Kalighat single-sheet urban brush-painting system unchanged and push it into its most complete, most convincing, most fully embodied image world.

This is full Kalighat world embodiment, not realism replacement.

Preserve the same unchanged deep Kalighat core:
single-sheet image identity,
broad sweeping brush contour,
bold simplified figure construction,
plain or nearly plain background space,
direct color force,
urban bazaar picture logic,
and devotional-plus-secular subject flexibility.

Important:
do not create realism-first illustration,
do not create cinematic folk art,
do not create premium heritage editorial painting,
do not create scenic image-world realism, and do not create a normal picture with Kalighat accents added later.

The entire image must be rebuilt through Kalighat logic.

Every visible category must become source-born:
figure,
prop,
animal,
gesture,
ornament,
page-space relation,
negative space,
subject emphasis,
and overall picture authority.

Believability here means:
believable sheet-picture force, believable brush-authored figure presence, believable page tension, believable urban-devotional or urban-satirical image clarity, and believable Kalighat-born visual authority.

But the style must still control:

brush sweep,
contour dominance,
figure simplification,
plain-space discipline,
bold direct color,
single-sheet condensation,
and urban bazaar readability.

Increase:

full same-style image embodiment,
full page orchestration,
full figure-space tension, stronger visual authority, stronger subject condensation, and stronger sense that the whole image was born from Kalighat brush intelligence.

Absolute rule:

the Kalighat system must not decorate the image.
the Kalighat system must generate the image.

Do not let the background grow.

Do not let realism take over.

Do not let scenic completion replace sheet-image force.

Do not let polish overpower brush economy.

The final image must feel like:

the same Kalighat style itself has become a fully embodied complete Kalighat-born image world.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SUBJECT / SCENE / IMAGE] in V3 = full Kalighat world embodiment of the same source grammar from West Bengal.

Keep the authentic Kalighat single-sheet painting system unchanged and push it into full image-world embodiment.

Preserve the same unchanged deep core:

single-sheet image logic,
broad sweeping brush contour,

bold simplified figure construction,
plain-background discipline,
direct color force,
urban bazaar identity,
and Kalighat-born image condensation.

Important:

the whole image must be rebuilt through Kalighat logic.

Do not keep normal illustration logic and then add Kalighat flavor later.

Build the image like this:

[MAIN FIGURE / MAIN ACTION] must dominate the page immediately as a Kalighat-born visual event

[CONTOUR] must remain sweeping, authoritative, and meaning-bearing

[BACKGROUND] must remain plain or nearly plain, not scenic

[COLOR] must remain direct, bold, and image-structuring

[PROPS / SECONDARY ELEMENTS] must obey the same condensed brush grammar

Believable full Kalighat embodiment here means:

believable brush-authored force,

believable page balance, believable figure-space control, believable subject condensation, and believable same-language picture authority, but no realism takeover.

Increase:

full image embodiment,

full page completion,

stronger brush power,

stronger visual punch,

and stronger same-language control.

Keep unchanged:

sheet-image truth,

brush economy,

plain-space discipline,

urban Kalighat condensation,

and whole-frame single-language control.

Avoid:

generic realism,

filled scenic backgrounds,

decorative over-rendering,

scroll-sequence logic,

premium heritage painting polish, or any second visual language overpowering the source grammar.

The final image must feel like:
the same Kalighat grammar itself has become a fully embodied complete image world.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into V3 = full Kalighat world embodiment of the same source grammar from West Bengal.

Preserve the source image's subject count, core action, page purpose, and main relationships, but rebuild every visible element through Kalighat single-sheet brush intelligence fully embodied as a complete picture.

Keep the authentic branch unchanged and push it into full Kalighat image-world embodiment.

Replace ordinary illustration or realism with:
single-sheet picture force,
broad sweeping brush contour,
bold simplified figure logic,
plain or nearly plain background,
direct color impact,
urban bazaar image economy,
and Kalighat-born subject clarity.

Do not keep normal image logic and add Kalighat later.
Do not keep realistic figures and only localize contour or color.
Do not let the style survive only in decorative accents.

Rebuild:
figures as true Kalighat figures,
space as sparse page-space, props as brush-condensed visual elements, background as controlled blankness, color as direct pictorial force, and the whole frame as one uninterrupted Kalighat-authored picture.

Expand the source into:
full page authority,
full image embodiment,
clear figure dominance,
clear brush-led structure,
clear same-language control,

and complete Kalighat readability, but only through Kalighat grammar.

Absolute rule:

the Kalighat system must generate the image, not decorate the image.

The final result must feel like:

the same Kalighat style itself has become a fully embodied complete image world.

If it feels like ordinary illustration coated with Kalighat flavor, it has failed.
