

Therukoothu - Tamil Nadu

V1 — Authentic Style

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu, treating it as a Tamil ritual street-theatre system built through epic and puranic storytelling, temple-festival performance, open public staging, song-dominant dramatic narration, improvised dialogue, strong troupe structure, wooden-and-crown-based character architecture, and musically driven public theatricality.

Build the image as if it genuinely belongs inside the native Therukoothu performance world itself. The image must be governed first by public ritual performance, epic role readability, song-and-music-driven dramatic force, and built character-body architecture, not by modern stage-play realism, generic folk costume spectacle, cinematic mythological acting, or decorative heritage styling.

The main performer or main performance cluster must feel audience-facing and publicly legible. The role must feel drawn from epic or puranic theatre-worlds such as Mahabharata, Ramayana, or related sacred-story performance. The body must not look like an ordinary person wearing costume. It must feel constructed for performance through enlarged silhouette, strong torso architecture, large crown or head structure, amplified public-stage presence, and role-coded costume logic. Face and gesture must be clear, outward-facing, stylized, and readable at distance.

The scene must feel musically alive. Even in a still image, it should imply singing, percussion, vocal support, rhythm, and live dramatic progression. Dialogue should feel public, direct, projected, and performatively alive rather than intimate or literary. If singers, musicians, chorus-like supporters, or troupe members appear, they must feel structurally part of the performance field, not background decoration.

The space must feel like open ritual public space: village street, temple-linked open ground, performance field, or festival gathering zone. The image must feel like a live event, not a posed costume portrait. Costume color, crowns, wooden body-build, and expressive gesture must all support role visibility and collective reception.

Do not make this generic folk drama, indoor staged mythological theatre, costume parade, character photo-shoot, or realism with epic motifs pasted on top. The final result must feel like the real Therukoothu system itself made the whole image-world.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SUBJECT / PERFORMANCE IMAGE / RITUAL THEATRE FIELD / EPIC PERFORMANCE WORLD] in the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu.

Style system that must remain unchanged:

- ritual public-performance identity
- epic and puranic narrative identity
- song-dominant dramatic engine
- improvised public-facing dialogue logic
- troupe-based performance ecology
- wooden-and-crown-based role-body amplification
- audience-facing theatricality
- whole-frame Therukoothu consistency

Translate the image like this:

- [MAIN ROLE / MAIN PERFORMER / MAIN CHARACTER] becomes a Therukoothu-built performance presence governed by epic role clarity and public theatrical force
- [BODY / CHEST / TORSO / COSTUME BUILD] must feel structurally amplified, not ordinary human dressing
- [HEAD / CROWN / FACE / MAKEUP] must feel role-defining, large, dramatic, and public-distance readable
- [VOICE / SONG / PERFORMANCE ENERGY] must be visually implied through expression, gesture, and staging
- [MUSICIANS / SINGERS / SUPPORT PERFORMERS / TROUPE FIELD] must feel like an active part of the performance system
- [GROUND / STAGE ZONE / PUBLIC SPACE / TEMPLE-FESTIVAL SETTING] must feel open, communal, and ritual-performance-coded
- [IF FIGURES / OBJECTS / ARCHITECTURE APPEAR] faces, bodies, posture, object logic, and environment logic must all be reorganized through Therukoothu performance order, not realism

Keep:

- public ritual theatre
- epic role readability
- song-driven energy
- improvised directness
- built role-body
- crown hierarchy
- music-and-troupe pressure
- whole-frame consistency

Avoid:

- generic mythological costume drama
- modern stage realism
- cinematic acting realism
- character portrait logic
- fashion-like costume treatment
- decorative cultural-show mood
- realism with Therukoothu accents added later

The final result must feel like a true Tamil ritual street-theatre system, not a general folk-performance image.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu.

Preserve the source image's subject count, core action, main relationships, and readability, but rebuild the full image through Therukoothu grammar. Replace generic dramatic acting with public ritual-performance force. Replace costume realism with built role-body architecture. Replace ordinary expression with song-driven theatrical readability. Replace static dramatic posing with epic-performance energy. Replace neutral staging with open public ritual-performance ground.

If the image includes characters, rebuild faces, bodies, posture, crowns, costume-build, and gesture through Therukoothu logic. If the image includes supporting people, musicians, instruments, or performance field, make them feel like an active ensemble. If environment appears, it must also feel like village-public or temple-festival performance space rather than generic realism.

Do not simply add crowns and bright costume to a normal dramatic image. Do not keep realism underneath. Do not let the role-body remain ordinary. The final result must feel as if the original image has been fully reauthored inside the true source-truth Therukoothu system.

V2 — Artisan Translation

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in the creative artisan translation of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu, preserving the same deep source grammar as the authentic source-truth version, but translating it into a richer, more imaginative, more dimensional 2D + 3D hybrid visual system.

Keep the core Therukoothu grammar fully unchanged: ritual public-performance identity, epic and puranic narrative identity, song-dominant dramatic engine, improvised public-facing dialogue logic, troupe structure, musical force, wooden-and-crown-based role-body architecture, and audience-facing theatricality. Do not turn this into generic mythological concept art, folk-costume illustration, premium heritage-stage styling, fantasy warrior design, or realism with Therukoothu costume layered on top.

Translate that same grammar into a more alive and dimensional visual language. The image must no longer behave only as literal performance documentation, but it must also not become full realistic scene-world depth. It should become a creative hybrid performance-image system where Therukoothu's own public-theatrical intelligence generates richer form, stronger visual invention, and more dimensional presence.

The transformation must affect the whole frame. If figures appear, faces, bodies, silhouettes, posture, grouping, and role-relations must all be rebuilt through Therukoothu's public-performance logic. If objects appear, they must be shaped through performance need, musical relation, ritual context, and epic role clarity. If environment appears, it must grow from street-theatre and temple-festival logic rather than remain generic. The performance system must become the larger organizing intelligence, not just costume applied to a normal scene.

Dimensionality must come from Therukoothu itself: from public staging, song-led energy, improvised directness, crown hierarchy, kattai-built body architecture, troupe pressure, musical rhythm, and epic role confrontation. Do not solve dimensionality through generic rendering habits, cinematic realism, fantasy action language, or a normal environment with theatrical costume inserted.

Do not create:

folk-theatre concept art, costume-design mockup, mythological character poster, premium heritage branding, or a generic dimensional image decorated later by Therukoothu.

The final result must feel like the same Therukoothu grammar has entered a richer, more imaginative, more dimensional artisan translation without losing itself.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SUBJECT / IMAGE / PERFORMANCE SYSTEM / EPIC PUBLIC-THEATRE WORLD] in the creative artisan translation of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu.

Keep unchanged:

- ritual public-performance identity
- epic and puranic role logic

- song-dominant dramatic engine
- improvised public-facing speech logic
- troupe structure
- musical performance pressure
- crown-and-kattai role-body architecture
- audience-facing theatricality
- whole-frame style consistency

Translate it into a richer dimensional hybrid visual system like this:

- [MAIN ROLE / MAIN FIGURE / MAIN PERFORMANCE CENTER] becomes a Therukoothu-built presence with more dimensional life, but still governed by public ritual theatre and role-body structure
- [SECONDARY FIGURES / TROUPE SUPPORT / MUSICIANS / CHORUS FIELD] also transform through the same Therukoothu grammar rather than generic styling
- [BODY BUILD / CROWN / FACE / GESTURE / COSTUME EXPANSION] become more spatially alive and structurally expressive while remaining performance-functional
- [VOICE / SONG / DIALOGUE / MUSIC FORCE] must be visually embodied in the performance design
- [IF FIGURES APPEAR] faces, bodies, posture, grouping, object logic, and environment logic must all be rebuilt through Therukoothu order
- [IF ENVIRONMENT APPEARS] it must grow from public ritual staging, epic role contrast, and musical performance logic rather than realism

Increase:

- dimensional presence
- visual richness
- artisan-like reinterpretation
- hybrid 2D + 3D form
- structural clarity
- whole-frame transformation
- imaginative performance spatial layering

Do not use:

- costume-study logic
- concept-poster logic
- cinematic realism
- fantasy-warrior drift
- generic environment with Therukoothu overlay
- only costume carrying the style
- mythological illustration habits without performance structure

Success condition:

the result feels like the same Therukoothu style has been artistically translated into a richer dimensional hybrid system.

Failure condition:

the result feels like a generic dimensional image decorated later by Therukoothu.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into the creative artisan translation of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu.

Preserve the source image's core subject logic, action logic, grouping logic, and readability, but rebuild the full image through Therukoothu's internal grammar translated into a richer, more dimensional 2D + 3D hybrid visual system.

Replace generic acting with public ritual-performance force. Replace ordinary costume with crown-and-body-built role structure. Replace static posture with song-driven gesture logic. Replace general theatricality with epic role-coded public address. If figures are present, transform faces, bodies, silhouettes, posture, grouping, object logic, and surrounding structure through Therukoothu performance logic, not realism. If objects or environment are present, they must also be rebuilt through public staging, music, troupe ecology, and ritual-performance order instead of remaining generic.

Let the image gain more dimensional life, richer performance form, more imaginative layering, and stronger whole-frame coherence. But do not turn it into mythological concept art, costume branding, or realism with Therukoothu styling added afterward.

Do not style only the costume surface. Do not leave the rest of the frame generic. The final result must feel like the source image has been fully reauthored through a creative artisan translation of Therukoothu.

V3 — 3D / Realistic / Cinematic Translation

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in the fully resolved believable real-world 3D translation of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu, preserving the same authentic source grammar but pushing it into its most complete, most embodied, most scene-capable volumetric world.

Keep the same deep Therukoothu visual intelligence fully unchanged: ritual public-performance identity, epic and puranic role logic, song-dominant dramatic narration, improvised public-facing speech, troupe structure, musical ensemble force, crown-and-kattai role-body architecture, and audience-facing theatricality. Do not turn this into generic village realism, cinematic mythological realism, heritage-stage realism, or a normal world with Therukoothu costume added on top.

Now convert that same grammar into a believable volumetric world. The result must have believable volume, believable material behavior, believable spatial separation, believable object presence, believable environmental completion, and believable three-dimensional world logic. But every visible part of the image must still be generated by Therukoothu grammar.

If figures are present, they must be rebuilt through Therukoothu-born public-performance structure, not normal realism wearing epic costume. If objects appear, they must be shaped through role function, musical relation, ritual staging, and troupe order. If environment appears, it must be generated by public performance field logic, temple-festival activation, audience-facing staging, and epic-role confrontation. The world must not become ordinary reality with one Therukoothu performer inserted into it.

Depth must now become full scene-world depth, but it must remain style-controlled. The source grammar must still govern figure design, shape logic, composition logic, material identity, environment logic, and total scene organization.

Do not let realism replace the style. Do not let the style survive only in crowns, costumes, props, or makeup. Do not create a premium cinematic makeover stronger than the source grammar. The final image must feel like Therukoothu itself has become a believable full world.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SUBJECT / SCENE / FIGURAL WORLD / EXPANDED THERUKOOTHU WORLD] in the fully resolved believable real-world 3D translation of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu.

Keep unchanged:

- ritual public-performance identity
- epic and puranic role logic
- song-dominant dramatic engine
- improvised public-facing speech logic
- troupe structure
- music-and-ensemble force
- crown-and-kattai role-body architecture
- audience-facing theatricality
- whole-frame style consistency

Translate it into full world-depth like this:

- [MAIN FORM / MAIN FIGURE / MAIN PERFORMANCE CENTER] becomes a fully embodied Therukoothu-built presence with believable public-performance-world logic
- [SECONDARY FIGURES / MUSICIANS / SUPPORTERS / TROUPE FIELD] also remain under the same Therukoothu-born logic
- [BODY BUILD / CROWN / GESTURE / FACE / COSTUME ARCHITECTURE / MUSIC RELATIONS] become volumetric world-organizing elements still governed by performance function
- [SURROUNDING WORLD / ENVIRONMENT / SPATIAL FIELD] becomes a believable scene-world generated by Therukoothu public-theatre intelligence rather than generic realism
- [IF FIGURES ARE PRESENT] faces, bodies, posture, grouping, object logic, and environment logic must all remain Therukoothu-born, not realism-first

Increase:

- volumetric world-building
- material-light interaction
- spatial separation
- scene completeness
- object presence
- environmental orchestration
- full-frame readability
- public-performance-to-world transformation

Do not lose:

- ritual-performance force
- epic role clarity
- song-and-dialogue pressure
- troupe ecology
- crown/body-built authority
- audience-facing energy
- whole-frame Therukoothu identity

Do not use:

- realistic village scene with one performer
- generic cinematic illustration
- style-as-costume only
- style-as-crown only
- style-as-makeup only
- style-as-prop only
- premium finish overpowering source grammar
- reality with Therukoothu flavor added later

Success condition:

the result feels like Therukoothu itself has become a believable full world.

Failure condition:

the result feels like reality has been coated with Therukoothu.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into the fully resolved believable real-world 3D translation of Therukoothu from Tamil Nadu.

Preserve the source image's main subject logic, action logic, relationship logic, and readability, but rebuild the entire image through Therukoothu's source grammar translated into full world-depth.

Replace generic forms with Therukoothu-built volumetric presences. Replace ordinary surfaces with performance-world construction. Replace generic dramatic order with ritual public staging, epic role coding, song-and-dialogue pressure, troupe structure, and musical force. Replace realism-first acting with crown-and-body-built theatrical authority. If figures are present, transform faces, bodies, posture, grouping, gesture, object logic, and environment logic through Therukoothu grammar, not realism.

Allow the result to gain complete volumetric embodiment, stronger material-light interaction, spatial separation, object presence, scene completion, and environmental orchestration. But do not let the image become generic reality with Therukoothu added later. The whole world must remain Therukoothu-born.

Do not stylize only the costume or crown while leaving the rest of the world generic. Do not make it a village-realism scene with a theatrical insert. Do not let the source grammar weaken as depth increases. The final result must feel like the source image has been fully reauthored as a believable volumetric world generated by Therukoothu itself.
