

Baluchari - West Bengal

V1 — Authentic Style

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Baluchari from West Bengal.

Treat this as a true West Bengal narrative silk-sari weaving system, not as generic Bengal silk, not as generic brocade luxury cloth, not as printed mythological fashion, and not as a decorative saree with rich borders only.

Build the image through real Baluchari logic:
draw-loom woven narrative construction,
extra-weft figurative weaving,
prestige silk-sari identity,
long pallu as the main story field,
figurative borders as structured narrative carriers, supportive saree body field,
mythological or social-historical motif logic, and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari handloom continuity.

The saree must feel like a woven storytelling garment from the beginning.
It must not feel like a normal luxury silk saree that later received story motifs.

The style must control the whole saree:
pallu dominance,
border hierarchy,
boxed or contained figurative organization,
woven figure readability,
silk body,
silk sheen,
textile weight,
and full saree-zone coherence.

The pallu must carry the strongest narrative force.
The borders must support and structure the storytelling.
The body must remain subordinate enough to keep the pallu-border hierarchy clear.

Figures must feel woven into the textile, not printed, painted, embroidered, or pasted later.
The final saree must feel loom-authored.

Do not make it:
generic silk luxury,

generic brocade richness,
printed epic scenes,
all-over ornamental density,
fashion-editorial drape styling, or mythological decoration without Baluchari saree structure.

The final image must feel like authentic Baluchari weaving intelligence itself generated the whole saree.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SAREE / TEXTILE IMAGE / GARMENT VIEW / DETAIL VIEW / WORLD] in the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Baluchari from West Bengal.

Treat the style as a narrative silk-sari weaving system built from:

draw-loom construction,
extra-weft figurative weaving,
prestige silk body,
pallu-first storytelling,
figurative border structure,
supportive sari field,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari continuity.

Core style system to preserve:

narrative-sari truth,
woven-not-applied imagery,
pallu-and-border hierarchy,
silk prestige identity,
figurative readability,
and whole-frame same-language control.

Translate the image like this:

[PALLU] must become the main woven story field, not just a rich decorative end-panel [BORDERS] must become structured figurative narrative carriers, not generic ornamental trimming [BODY FIELD] must support the story zones without overpowering them [FIGURES / MOTIFS] must feel woven through extra-weft logic, not printed or embroidered later [SILK] must feel prestigious, compact, and luminous, not casual or flat [ENTIRE SAREE] must feel like a Baluchari-born narrative garment, not generic luxury textile

Keep:

draw-loom narrative identity,
extra-weft woven-image truth,
pallu-border dominance,

silk prestige,
Bishnupur/Bankura anchoring,
and same-language textile control.

Avoid:

generic Bengal silk saree,
generic brocade fabric,
printed mythological fashion,
all-over design richness with no zone hierarchy, or ordinary luxury sari styling with Baluchari flavor added later.

The final result must feel like true Baluchari logic itself generated the whole saree.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into the pure authentic source-truth visual logic of Baluchari from West Bengal.

Preserve the source image's garment identity, main view, and overall readability, but rebuild the entire saree through real Baluchari narrative-weaving intelligence.

Replace generic sari logic with:

draw-loom woven image construction,
extra-weft figurative weaving,
long narrative pallu,
structured figurative borders,
prestige silk body,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari identity.

Do not merely add mythological motifs.

Do not merely enrich the borders.

Do not merely add silk gloss.

Do not keep ordinary fashion-sari logic while only the surface becomes Baluchari-like.

Rebuild:

the pallu as a true woven story field,
the borders as true narrative carriers,
the body as supporting textile field,
the figures as woven imagery,
the silk as prestige handloom silk,
and the whole frame as one Baluchari-authored visual language.

The final result must feel like the source image has been completely re-authored by authentic Baluchari grammar, not decorated with it.

V2 — Artisan Translation

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in V2 = authentic handcrafted dimensional translation of Baluchari from West Bengal.

Preserve the same deep source grammar of the style:

draw-loom narrative-sari identity,
extra-weft figurative weaving,
prestige silk-sari body,
long pallu as the main story zone,
figurative borders,
mythological or social-historical woven imagery,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari continuity.

Now translate that same grammar into stronger woven-image embodiment.

This must not become generic luxury realism.
This must not become premium brocade fashion.
This must not become showroom silk photography.
This must not become editorial drape glamour.

Dimensionality must come from the style itself:

through stronger woven figure presence, clearer pallu-border authority, stronger extra-weft image readability, stronger silk compactness, clearer boxed narrative organization, better figure-to-ground separation,
and stronger loom-authored textile force.

This is not fashion-first realism.
This is the same Baluchari grammar gaining stronger woven-image embodiment.

Allow:

stronger silk body,
clearer motif structure,
stronger narrative-zone hierarchy, stronger woven figure readability, and stronger handcrafted textile authority.

But keep:

pallu dominance,
border structure,
woven-not-applied imagery,

prestige-sari identity,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari truth.

Do not let gloss replace weave logic.
Do not let luxury mood replace narrative structure.
Do not let richness flatten the pallu-border hierarchy.

The whole image must feel like Baluchari has gained stronger woven-image embodiment without losing its native narrative-sari truth.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SAREE / TEXTILE IMAGE / GARMENT VIEW / DETAIL VIEW / WORLD] in V2 = authentic handcrafted dimensional translation of Baluchari from West Bengal.

Preserve the unchanged deep source core:
narrative-sari identity,
draw-loom / extra-weft woven image logic,
pallu-and-border hierarchy,
prestige silk body,
figurative readability,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari continuity.

Translate the image into stronger woven-image embodiment by increasing:
woven figure presence,
silk body,
narrative-zone clarity,
boxed composition strength,
surface compactness,
and same-language textile control.

Build the image like this:

[PALLU] becomes more physically present as a woven story field, but remains fully Baluchari-structured

[BORDERS] gain stronger narrative authority without turning into generic brocade richness

[BODY FIELD] stays supportive and controlled, not equally dominant

[FIGURES / MOTIFS] gain stronger woven-body readability, never print-like or illustration-like

[SILK] gains stronger prestige presence, weight, and sheen, not fashion-glamour drift

[ENTIRE SAREE] feels more loom-authored, more compact, and more handwoven

Keep:

draw-loom narrative identity,
extra-weft image truth,
pallu-border hierarchy,
prestige silk character,

Baluchari motif-world,
and whole-frame same-language control.

Avoid:

generic luxury-silk realism,
generic brocade richness,
editorial sari glamour,
all-over ornamental flattening, or any second visual language stronger than Baluchari grammar.

The final image must feel like authentic Baluchari logic translated into stronger woven-image embodiment.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into V2 = authentic handcrafted dimensional translation of Baluchari from West Bengal.

Keep the source image's garment identity, subject readability, and main saree structure, but rebuild the image through Baluchari narrative-weaving grammar translated into stronger woven-image embodiment.

The image must no longer behave like generic luxury-sari realism or brocade fashion styling.

Replace that with:

draw-loom narrative construction,
extra-weft figurative logic,
long pallu authority,
structured figurative borders,
compact prestige silk body,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari handloom truth.

Add:

stronger woven figure presence, clearer pallu-story readability, stronger border organization, stronger silk body and compactness, and stronger handcrafted textile force.

But do not let dimensionality come from generic product photography, editorial styling, or glamour-rich drape realism.

Do not keep ordinary luxury-sari logic while only the motifs become local.

Rebuild all visible elements so they feel born from Baluchari grammar.

The result must feel like the source image has entered the branch's stronger woven-image world, not that Baluchari styling has been placed onto an ordinary saree.

V3 — 3D / Realistic / Cinematic Translation

Universal Hard Prompt

Create an image in V3 = full Baluchari world embodiment of the same source grammar from West Bengal.

Keep the authentic Baluchari narrative silk-sari weaving system unchanged and push it into its most complete, most convincing, most fully embodied Baluchari-born world.

This is full Baluchari world embodiment, not couture replacement.

Preserve the same unchanged deep Baluchari core:

draw-loom narrative-sari identity,
extra-weft figurative weaving,
prestige silk-sari body,
long pallu as the main story field,
figurative borders as structural narrative carriers,
mythological or social-historical woven imagery,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari continuity.

Important:

do not create generic couture-fashion realism,
do not create luxury brocade fantasy,
do not create editorial silk glamour, do not create normal fashion-world styling with Baluchari motifs added later.

The entire visual world must be rebuilt through Baluchari logic.

Every visible category must become source-born:

pallu,
border,
body field,
figurative motif,
zone hierarchy,
silk surface behavior,
woven-image authority,
and complete saree-world coherence.

Believability here means:

believable woven story-world force, believable pallu dominance, believable border structure, believable silk prestige and compactness, believable extra-weft figure readability, and believable Baluchari-born visual authority.

But the style must still control:

saree-zone hierarchy,
woven narrative organization,
extra-weft image logic,
silk surface character,
pallu-border authority,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari identity.

Increase:

full same-style world embodiment,
full saree authority,
full narrative-zone completion, stronger woven figure power, stronger textile-world orchestration, and stronger sense that the whole image was born from Baluchari weaving intelligence.

Absolute rule:

the Baluchari system must not decorate the saree.
the Baluchari system must generate the saree and its world.

Do not let glamour replace weave logic.

Do not let richness replace pallu dominance.

Do not let fashion realism overpower Baluchari zone structure.

The final image must feel like:

the same Baluchari style itself has become a fully embodied complete Baluchari-born world.

Reusable Variable Template

Create [SAREE / TEXTILE IMAGE / GARMENT VIEW / DETAIL VIEW / WORLD] in V3 = full Baluchari world embodiment of the same source grammar from West Bengal.

Keep the authentic Baluchari narrative silk-sari system unchanged and push it into full Baluchari-world embodiment.

Preserve the same unchanged deep core:

narrative-sari identity,
draw-loom / extra-weft woven image logic,
long pallu structure,
figurative border hierarchy,
prestige silk body,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari continuity.

Important:

the whole image must be rebuilt through Baluchari logic.

Do not keep ordinary luxury-sari logic and then add Baluchari flavor later.

Build the image like this:

[PALLU] must dominate as the main woven story field

[BORDERS] must remain structured narrative carriers

[BODY FIELD] must support the story zones without flattening hierarchy

[FIGURES / MOTIFS] must remain truly woven and Baluchari-born, never printed or illustration-like [SILK] must remain prestigious, compact, luminous, and handloom-authored

[ENTIRE SAREE] must feel like one unified Baluchari narrative garment

Believable full Baluchari embodiment here means:

believable woven narrative authority, believable zone hierarchy, believable figure readability,

believable silk body,

and believable same-language textile completion,

but no couture or editorial takeover.

Increase:

full saree embodiment,

full narrative-zone authority, stronger woven-image power, stronger pallu-border orchestration, stronger same-language control,

and stronger Baluchari-born identity.

Keep unchanged:

narrative-sari truth,

extra-weft weave logic,

pallu-border hierarchy,

silk prestige,

Bishnupur/Bankura anchoring,

and whole-frame same-language control.

Avoid:

generic luxury silk,

generic brocade fashion,

editorial glamour styling, printed mythological surface treatment, or any second visual language overpowering the source grammar.

The final image must feel like:

the same Baluchari grammar itself has become a fully embodied complete Baluchari-born world.

Image-to-Image

Convert this source image into V3 = full Baluchari world embodiment of the same source grammar from West Bengal.

Preserve the source image's garment identity, overall saree readability, and main structural relations, but rebuild every visible element through Baluchari narrative-weaving intelligence fully embodied as a complete Baluchari-born world.

Keep the authentic branch unchanged and push it into full Baluchari-world embodiment.

Replace ordinary luxury-sari, brocade, or fashion logic with:
draw-loom narrative-sari identity,
extra-weft woven image construction,
long pallu authority,
figurative narrative borders,
prestige silk body,
and Bishnupur/Bankura Baluchari truth.

Do not keep normal fashion-saree logic and add Baluchari later.
Do not keep generic brocade richness and only localize motifs.
Do not let the style survive only in border or pallu accents.

Rebuild:
the pallu as a true Baluchari story field,
the borders as true narrative carriers,
the body as supportive woven ground,
the figures as extra-weft woven imagery,
the silk as prestige handloom silk,
and the whole frame as one uninterrupted Baluchari-authored textile world.

Expand the source into:
full saree authority,
full woven-image embodiment,
clear pallu dominance,
clear border hierarchy,
clear same-language control,
and complete Baluchari readability, but only through Baluchari grammar.

Absolute rule:
the Baluchari system must generate the saree and world, not decorate them.

The final result must feel like:
the same Baluchari style itself has become a fully embodied complete Baluchari-born world.
If it feels like ordinary luxury silk coated with Baluchari flavor, it has failed.
